Forecast for Tuesday 06 Jun 2023

Weather: Cloud will push in from the east of the park, perhaps progressing further west than previous days, during the early hours of the morning but this will once again quickly disperse for mid-morning. A warm and dry day follows with lots of very strong sunshine. Holding onto clear skies for the first part of the night, with some late evening sunshine but low cloud likely to return from the east later overnight.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 40% at first, though this risk mainly in the east, all areas increasing to 100% by mid-morning.

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud with bases between 300-400m in the east at first but these lifting and clearing by mid-morning to clear skies for the remainder of the day. Excellent visibility and good clarity for scenic viewpoints.

Meteorologist's View

Another good day to be out on the hills but it will be warm with high UV levels so it is important to think about taking precautions such as sunglasses, caps and sunscreen, and also to take plenty of water.
